Dear Msgr. Powers

Thank you very much for your letter dated August 8, 2012 explaining that the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops has no jurisdiction to intervene in a Calgary Catholic Diocese and that it regards parents as having ultimate responsibility regarding the education of their children.

May we please respectfully ask a follow up question? Would you please clarify Catholic teaching on this question, "Is it consistent with Catholic social justice teaching for Catholic institutions to make it difficult for parents, and especially poor parents, to vaccinate their children against an infectious disease that the child may contract because of sexual abuse?"

Thank you very much.

Respectfully yours,
